WiseJ Framework 2.0.35 – Build Web Applications 100x Faster With C Or VB.NET

The image shows a screenshot of Microsoft Visual Studio. On the left, the code editor displays the following C# code for `DashboardForm_Load`:

private void DashboardForm_Load(object sender, EventArgs e)
{
    // Start a long running task when the form is loaded in the browser.
    Application.StartTask(() => {

        // At this point the server is done, we are running on our // own in a separate thread. But we can still access everything // in the form and update the browser in real time!

        this.gageCPU.Value = Metrics.GetCurrentLoad();

        // This call pushes the update to the client.
        Application.Update();

        // Wait a bit, otherwise we are too fast for a sample.
        Thread.Sleep(1000);

    });
}
```

On the right, the Design view shows a "Performance Dashboard" with four gauges:

- CPU: 20%
- Memory: 550 Mb
- Load: 0 Requests / sec.
- Speed: 0 milliseconds

The dashboard is displayed on a grid background. The status bar at the bottom shows "Item(s) Saved", "Ln 194", "Col 40", "Ch 34", and "INS".
